Family-Owned Performance Shop Sets World Record
Fastest Naturally Aspirated 2018+ s550 Mustang

Sealy, TX: Bumbera's Performance broke the record for the world's fastest naturally aspirated 2018+ mustang at Houston Raceway on Tuesday, August 17th. The record was previously held by Steeda, a leading developer of Mustang parts.

"Breaking the record is a huge accomplishment for our company. We're a family-owned and operated performance shop and we were able to take on one of the biggest names in our industry and come out on top," says Kenny Bumbera, Owner of Bumbera's Performance. "The fact that my son and our High Performance Specialist, Boyd Bumbera, was behind the wheel makes this achievement that much sweeter."

This isn't the first time the company has broken the naturally aspirated record for a mustang. In January 2018 Bumbera's Performance held the record for the fastest naturally aspirated 2018 Mustang.

Boyd Bumbera explained, “I knew that Steeda’s record would be a tough one to beat but we were able to tackle it in our own way by building our own cold air intake and using our own experience in drag racing. I couldn’t be more proud of everyone that was part of this build.”
